MARCO BERTOLINI

Interior, architecture, advertising, still life, food, portrait, lifestyle, home textiles and accessories, industry and manufacturing
Service offered: Production and location hunting support, postproduction, styling and casting.

My photographic style is simple, textured and emotional. Whenever possible, I shoot with natural light, autumn and winter being my favourite seasons for their moody and watercolored feel. A photo studio is my second home.

I travel the world in search of creativity and beauty and unique subjects to capture on an image. I visit and explore the best Italian and international companies, architecture studios and designers to create their photographic identity, work together on their art direction and establish a creative long-term relationship.

My work concentrates on interiors, product photography, still-life and fashion, commissioned by leading companies, magazines and professionals. My work is regularly featured in catalogues and editorial publications. My personal photo projects are included in private and corporate collections.

I was born in Bolzano, South Tyrol, in a multicultural region where northern and mediterranean languages traditions and ways of living coexist. I then moved to London where I graduated in International Studies (BA) at the South Bank University. I returned to Italy and settled down in Milan where I approached the world of design and style.
