Photography has been part of my life since childhood, handed down to me by my grandfather through my father and uncle. I further explored it by studying at IED in Milan and working as an assistant for Italian and foreign photographers.

For more than fifteen years I've been collaborating with many international design and fashion brands, narrating their stories through my shots: among these, Cassina, Poliform, Acqua di Parma, Bottega Veneta, Gucci, Ralph Lauren, Pomellato

My passion for interior design led me to portray creatives belonging to different fields and their homes: these editorials are published on Architectural Digest, Elle Decor, Living_Corriere della Sera, and, lately, Departures and Marie Claire Maison.

I'm also working as contributor for some of the most prestigious Japanese magazines such as: Casa Brutus, Esquire, Gainer, Precious, Axis.

My artistic side-projects are currently exhibited on Saatchi.art
